The following extract from this book gives a good illustration of Coburn's style. He said:
Kansas is the hog's El Dorado, for it is a corn orchard parked with grasses and fragrant with alfalfa. Hence it is that Kansas possesses more of those latent model self lubricating mortgage remov-

BOSTON MARKET REVIEW Prepared by the Boston Office of the Bureau of Agricultural Economics, U. S. Dept. of Agriculture

For Week Ending July 19, 1924
FRUITS AND VEGETABLES: Califoria, cantaloupes advanced further during the week, closing at $3.00-3.75 for standards, $3.50-4 for Jumbos and $1-1.50 for fiats. S. C. stock was slightly weaker and arriving in heavier volume. Standards sold Friday at $1-1.25 and fiats at 50c. Ga. pink meats and Hearts of Gold ranged 50c-1. Potatoes continue downward, E. Shore Va. stock closing at $2.75-3.00 per bbl. Demand is very light. Watermelons are weaker and with light demand and heavy supply, very low prices are quoted. Ga, Tom Watsons closed at 25-35c regardless of size. The peach market has about held its own although receipts have been heavy. Ga. six basket carriers closed at $1-2 depending on size and condition. Some N. C. Carmans sold Friday at $1-1.25. The tomato market is about steady with considerable variation in condition. Much stock is too green and some over-ripe. Closing sales on Md., Va. and Ga. sixes ranged $1.50-4.50 depending on size and condition. Tenn. flats considerable green closed at $1.75. New apples are about steady with receipts temporarily decreasing. Best Md. and Del. transparents closed at $1.50-1.75 per bushel with smaller sizes down to 75c. Mass. onions appeared on the market for the first time Wednesday. Japanese sets in 100 lb. sacks opened at $4.50 and closed at $2.25-2.50 per bu. in competition with poorer N. C. stock at 75c-1.25. Small berries closed generally weaker. Closing sales on 32 qt. crates, qt. basis, N. J. Blackberries 8-15c, N. Y. cherries 10c, N. Y. currants 10-12c, N. Y. gooseberries 10-14c, N. Y. raspberries 9-14c with N. J. stock 10-22c; New Brunswick strawberries 8-15c, Maines 18-25c, New Yorks 10-18c. Range depends largely on condition. New Yorks 10-18c. Hange depends largely on condition.

DAIRY AND POULTRY PRODUCTS: Dressed poultry market has ruled irregular and unsatisfactory with too little business reported to accurately establish values and prices showing considerable variation. Fowl: 5 lb. 30-31c, 4-4½ lb. 27-28c, 3-3½ lb. 24-35c, broilers, large, 40-42c, small 38-40c, roosters, large, 19-20c. small 16-17c. 30-31c, 4-4½ 1b. 27-28c, 3-3½ 1b. 24-35c, broliers, large, 40-42c, small 38-40c, roosters, large, 19-20c, small 16-17c. LIVE POULTRY market was unsettled under a slow demand. Fowl: 25c, chickens 29c. BUTTER market has ruled unsettled and in a sensitive position with the exception of one day trade has been slow and for consumptive needs only. The speculative element practically eliminated this week. Receipts have been ample and undergrades especially show an accumulation. 92 score 40½c, 90-91 score 39½-40c, 88-89 score 38-39c, 87 score 37c. EGG market has ruled steady under a fair demand practically all grades. However, buyers are still critical and willing to pay for quality. Cheap eggs continue to move readily. No serious accumulations were noticeable. Western extras 32-34c, extra firsts 28½-29½c, firsts 27½-28c, seconds 26-26½c. Nearby hennerys 32-35c, all browns up to 39c.

Filling the Picuic Basket.

(By Dorothy B. Marsh.) The piculo spirit is born in us, and s with the keenest expectancy that we watch the mysterious preparations in-volved in the packing of a picule basket with its toothsome contents. For the seaside piculo, there are varie les of sand-wiches dainty in their fillings, crisp salads, and plenty of fruit and cake to round out the juicy steak, fried potatoes, and coffee which will be cooked on the open fire. Or there are a choice of sliced

Tues., July 29, at 7 and 8:35 Wed., July 30, at 2, 7 and 8:35 open are. Or there are a choice of sitted cold meats with piquant reliables, very simple sandwiches, and fruit salad and cake as a top-off for the "woods outing." Or it may be an automobile trip when he dish of creamed chicken, piping hot as it comes from its container constructed to keep food hot or cold, will just touch the spot.

Whatever the outing, the housewife should use every care in making all her pionic appointments as pleasing to the eye, as delightful to the taste, and as imple in service as she can. The retail imple in service as she can. The retail market now offers many picnic baskets spacious yet convenient to carry. Some of them, have the unique feature of a metal lining as well as a small ice com partment to keep all foods in the basket old. If there is to be a youngeter in your picnic party, why not afford him the proud ownership of a small picnic basket of his own. In it can be packed the simple sandwiches, cookies, and fruit which are suited to his youthful stomach, not forgetting his special pint vacuum bottle of milk. Never more will he wish to sample everything in the family pic nic basket, oftentimes to his sorrow. It is always wise at the beginning of the pionic season to stock up with plenty of paper napkins, drinking cups, plates, and paraffin-costed containers. Paper drinking cups are indispensable, though there are times when I have found a supply of soda-fountain straws even more use al than a drinking cup. For when it is impossible to procure a cupful of water from a bubbling spring or running brook without rolling the water and dipping up leaves or twigs which are on the surface, the straws will reach the clear water without any trouble. Sandwiches are great favorites for the picnic basket, and they can be just as dainty and enticing as when served at home. The sandwich-shaped loaf of bread makes nulform slices with little or no waste. The crusts may or may not be cut off as preferred. Though one usually butters the bread slices and then spreads them with the sandwich filling, we find it much simpler and a greater saving of time to cream the butter thoroughly and the and with filling. oughly and then add the sandwich filling to the creamed butter, whether it is creamed cheese and chopped fruits, or nuts, or any other soft filling such as ninced meat. Then the mixture pread on the bread. You will rejoice at he simplicity of this method.

If your sandwiches are to be filled with sliced meat, care should be taken that the meat slices are thin, even, and neat, and carved across the grain of the meat rather than with it. It is always best to roast or cook the cuts of mea The Rev. M. Coltman and his wife, the Rev. Constance Coltman, who have accepted a joint pastorate in Oxford, Eng. It is a unique appointment in the Constance, and let it cool in its liquor.

Then remove and chill in the refrigerator. The thick end of the topone is a constant. to be more juicy than the tapering end. Place the tongue for carving with the skin side out, and cut thin, slanting slices widthwise of the tongue. If you have selected a cooked ham let it cool in its liquor after cooking until tender, then remove and thoroughly chill. Place the ham for carving so the knuckle bone is resting on the platter. Cut thin neat slices widthwise of the meat, clean and straight to the bone, then turn the knife and run it along the bone to loosen the alices. Chicken as a favorite plant meat and run it along the bone to loosen the slices. Chicken as a favorite picnic meat may be roasted, steamed or boiled until tender as preferred. When thoroughly chilled, it may be carved. The most uniform slices of white meat are cut lengthwise from either side of the breast bone after the drum-sticks and wings have been removed. The dark meat on the thigh bones and drum-sticks can be sliced off with a very sharp knife in neat, even slices. If the sliced meat is served at the picnic lunch accompanied by potato chips, sandwiches, etc., divide it into individual portions and wrap each portion attractively in a wax paper. In wrapping sandwiches, whether they are of the meat variety or some other, you will find that small wooden skewers of the toothpick style secure the ends of the toothpick style secure the ends of the toothpick style secure the ends of the wax paper wrappings very neatly. If you are including more than one variety of sandwich in your piculc basket meal, you can wrap one sandwich of each variety in the same wrapping to facilitate distributing at the picnic.

No plenic is quite complete without a crisp refreshing salad. There are paraffin cups which do very nicely for holding individual salads. However, it is also possible in most localities to purchase from the drug store half-pint, covered, paraffine coated boxes which the druggists use in delivering small amounts of ice cream. The salads can be tucked snugly in these boxes, then covered and easily carried as well as easily served. Perhaps you have a number of one-half pound candy boxes on hand. Line both the box and the cover with parassine pa per and arrange the salad in it. If you candy boxes are of the one pound size, they may be filled with sufficient salad for two, and when served, half of the salad can be placed in the cover.

to the somewhat uncomfortable position in which one usually eats a picuic lunch. If the hostess provides an individual tray for each picuicker, he may gather the various courses on his tray and select some comfortable nook in which to enjoy is repast.
Often the housewife is asked to carry a cake or pie as her share of the pionic meal, and is indeed puzzled to know just how to pack it so that it will reach its how to pack it so that it will reach its destination without injury to the delicate frosting or the food itself. A frosted cake can be slipped back into the pan in which it was baked, and with careful wrapping carried quite safely. We also know of an aluminum covered container designed for storing and carrying a cake, pie, or salad, having two firm handles on top by which to grasp the container. This is particularly adapted for picnic use.

Another Use for Paper Napkins. General Repairing repairs one day, I chanced to get some grease on my hand. As I looked about for something on which to wipe it off, the mechanic reached behind me and When stopping at a wayside garage for handed me a couple of clean paper 'napkins, pulling them from a bunch hanging on the wall. The convenience and efficiency of this scheme so impressed me that I immediately purchased a package of cheap white paper napkins and hung them beside my kitchen sink. I have never been without them since. When the hands must be thoroughly wiped off a paper napkin saves my kitchen towel South Paris, Me.
